

Name:

Silly Animal Problems: Pre-Writing Sheet

An original WritingFix (<http://writingfix.org>) writing assignment

My animal character:	Its silly problem:
Write three descriptive sentence (using memorable details) about your animal: <ul style="list-style-type: none">•••
What other story character might be affected by this problem? How will this other character be affected?	If you wrote a story scene between your animal and this other character, what details might you include? Jot down some ideas in this box:
Who's another story character who might be affected? How will this other character be affected in a way that's different?	If you wrote a story scene between your animal and this other character, what details might you include? Jot down some ideas in this box:
Who's another story character who might be affected? How will this other character be affected in a way that's different?	If you wrote a story scene between your animal and this other character, what details might you include? Jot down some ideas in this box:

Done brainstorming? On your own piece of paper, start writing a rough draft. Use your three descriptive details from the very top to help you write your story's introduction. Then, write the rest of your story in three pieces, focusing on the three other characters that are affected by the problem. Try to give the same amount of page space to each of the three other characters.